Red Cross Unit Worker Praises Antioch Showing

Would-be Blood Donors Exceeded Number Needed, Director Says

One hundred and forty-one pints of blood were collected by the Red Cross mobile unit at Antioch Township High school Friday, according to Roman Vos, chief air raid warden for Antioch township, who headed the committee that arranged for the appointments.

Lake Villa and Fox Lake residents helped to swell the lists of donors. There were 64 rejections for various causes. More than 50 additional persons who had hoped to fill in the places of some who were rejected had to be turned away, since rejections had already been allowed for in making up the list of appointments.

17 Were "Repeats"

Of those who gave blood, 17 had already made previous donations.

Mrs. Tom Burnette and Mrs. C. L. Heath of the Antioch American Legion auxiliary served a luncheon to the staff of the mobile unit at noon.

Miss Mary Askew, assistant director of the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross blood donor service, expressed herself as greatly pleased with the response here.

Writing to Warden Vos, she stated, "We wish to express our appreciation of the co-operation of the citizens. Their response to the Blood Donor appeal was most gratifying and you are all to be complimented thereon. When our Mobile Unit visited you last Friday, 141 units were collected for the plasma supply of the armed forces. We wish that we might express to each donor the personal thanks of the boy who will be the eventual recipient."

"Please extend to all those who assisted you our appreciation of their services. We are particularly grateful to the local chapter of the American Legion auxiliary for furnishing luncheon to our Staff and Volunteers. By so doing they contributed in a large measure to the spirit of the whole undertaking."

"We were very sorry to hear that fifty persons who came over in the hope of being donors could not be taken. We understand that some of them had hoped to fill in for those who were rejected. I would like to take this opportunity to explain to you that our rejection rate is already allowed for, and we do not expect to have those people replaced. We do ask local organizations to replace cancellations which come in advance, but not rejections, since we have already enrolled more donors than we can take in each period."

"Mrs. Marks has told us that you were disappointed because you did not meet Zion's figure of 155 pints. We consider, however, that your statistics are exactly as good as Zion's for this reason: On the day which we spent in Zion, we did not have to pack our equipment, but left it for the local people to move to the next location. Because of this fact our schedule had one more twenty-minute period than yours. Therefore, in proportion to the number of periods, your showing is equally good."

"We are a you realize that we consider 120 an excellent day for any locality. Your distance from Chicago, you will know that we have only compliments and congratulations for your organization."

"We sincerely hope that you will be able to explain this satisfactorily to the disappointed persons. Please assure them that their patriotic interest is deeply appreciated."

E. M. Schriener, chairman of the Lake County Red Cross organization, also complimented the people here on their fine response, stating on behalf of his organization that "This is a record which we all may share, including the donors, with justifiable pride."

Guernsey Judging Event Announced at Dundee, Ill.

Guernsey breeders from the central mid-west will attend the judging conference and field day sponsored by the Illinois Guernsey Breeders Association, at one of the Curtiss Candy Company farms, on Highway 25, northeast of Dundee, Ill., on Aug. 6.

Invitations to the judging conference have been extended to the Chicago Farmers and to members of the Illinois and Wisconsin state Guernsey breeders associations.

The program for the day will begin at 9:30.

Placing of classes will take place at 11:00 o'clock in the morning under the direction of Dean H. H. Kildee of Iowa State college, and C. S. Rhoads, head of the Dairy Extension division.

Lions Hear Talk on Service Clubs, Business

Practices of the Waukegan Lions club which have met with popular approval and which have proved successful in making the meetings of the club more interesting, were described by F. C. Boggess, Waukegan president, at a meeting of the Antioch organization Monday evening in Girard's resort.

The speaker outlined the benefits derived from a service club such as the Lions, and compared the good services rendered the community as being well worthy to be ranked with those of the ministers, doctors, lawyers.

Boggess, who is purchasing agent for the Johns-Manville Waukegan factory, then told something of the romance of purchasing for a large business concern, and how such work keeps a person in contact with all corners of the world, as it is necessary to make purchase from everywhere, either directly or indirectly.

In addition to the dinner, a special feature was enjoyed, with the proprietor of the resort as host.

Cautions Issued On Observation of Raid Test Friday

Four Signals Will Be Used for Entire Sixth Area

Antioch township residents are cautioned to be on their guard against confusing the various signals to be used in connection with the air raid test for the sixth area, outside of Chicago Friday evening. Township Civilian Defense Commander Roman B. Vos states:

These signals will be uniform throughout the area and will be as follows:

- 1—2-minute blast—"alert" signal—dim lights.
- 2—Staccato blast—complete blackout.
- 3—2-minute blast—keep lights out.
- 4—1-minute blast—"All Clear."

The opening signal is the first warning of the approaching raid. Traffic should slow and proceed with caution and pedestrians should seek the nearest shelter.

The second signal means that an air raid is imminent. All traffic must stop and pedestrians take cover. If the warning comes at night, as will be the case Friday, there must be a blackout.

The third signal means that there is still a period of alert and that the blackout must be continued, but that traffic and normal operations may resume, using precautions, such as dimmed lights.

With the "all clear," lights will go on and all normal activities will be restored.

The blackout has been set for 9:30 p. m. and will continue for half an hour.

Formation of Price Panel Board to be Discussed Next Week

A meeting with a view to setting up a "Price Panel Board" to hold hearings on alleged ceiling price violations and similar matters was held Monday evening under the charge of Ray Thompson, chairman of the Lake Villa-Antioch Rationing board.

Mr. Thompson states that while definite steps with regard to the formation of the panel have not been completed, further consideration of the matter will take place at a meeting about the middle of next week.

"This panel would not be a 'police' organization," he explains, "but would have as its object the bringing of dealers and consumers together to work matters out in a manner that will be satisfactory to all parties as possible."

"It will have as some of its objects the cutting down of the huge volume of complaints now going in to the OPA in Chicago; the solving of all matters locally that can be solved right in the community; and, consequently, the speeding up of hearings on all reports."

"While we are not sure just how this can be worked out, we are hopeful that such a panel can be formed, as we believe it would be a great help."

The average attendance for the six weeks was 35 children in the morning and 19 in the afternoon. The difference in the average was attributed by Miss Eleanor Forster, leader, to the fact that the youngsters enjoy swimming in the afternoon.

The program was sponsored by the Grade School Parent Teacher association, which also purchased a net for playing volleyball, and helped in other ways to insure a variety of activities for the children.

Elmer D. Bray of Buena Park, Lake Villa, Dies

Life-Time Resident of Lake Region Found Career in Salesmanship

Elmer Dyer Bray of Buena Park, Lake Villa, who found in salesmanship a rich and satisfying career for more than 40 years, was laid to rest in the family lot in Rosehill cemetery following services at the Drake and Sons funeral home, Chicago, Monday. He was 65 years of age.

Bray's health had been failing for the past two years, but he refused to give up, preferring to do the work he loved best—selling—to the very end. He became ill while managing a display at Peoria and returned home for medical treatment. At the time of his death, he had been under hospital care at St. Therese, Waukegan, for six weeks.

Salesman at 18
Bray was born in Chicago August 23, 1877, the son of Frances Marie Bennett and Joseph Dyer Bray. He was only 18 when he went on the road for Marshall Field and company, the youngest traveling salesman they ever had. He loved to sell, and he held the deepest respect of his customers throughout his life.

He was proud of the fact that he had worked for only three firms during his lifetime—Field's, Percival B. Palmer and company, with whom he was associated for more than 30 years, and Butler Brothers, his employers for the past ten years.

He is survived by his wife, who before their marriage on April 25, 1906, was Clifton Clayton Ellis of Hannibal, Mo., and by their daughters, Virginia Whittemore and Betty McNamara, and by two grandchildren.

Cycling Enthusiast
Deeply interested in sports throughout his lifetime, Bray did a great deal of bicycle racing during his youth. He used to cycle from (continued on page 8)

LITTLE JACK HORNER

News of the Boys in Service

Dear Editor—
I'm sorry I haven't written sooner, so I'll take time out to do so. I certainly enjoy reading the Antioch News. It's just like receiving a letter from everyone back home.

When I first came overseas I spent some time on the Fiji island of Viti Levu. The natives of Fiji are very friendly, and they're not savage, as one would imagine. There is quite a population of Indians on the island. They were brought there by the British, and are mostly Moslem and Hindu. I spent a five day furlough in the town of Suva, while I was there, and enjoyed every minute of it.

I'll close for now, and thanks a lot for sending the Antioch News.

Sincerely yours,
Pfc. Charles R. Waters

Thanking you again for sending the paper. I remain

Pfc. Ray Quadenfeld.

Pvt. Virgil A. Newlin, who was a teacher in the Antioch Grade school for two years, is at present stationed with Co. B, 187 Engr. (C) Bn., at Camp McCain, Miss.

Pvt. Roy W. Aronson has been home from Camp Livingston, La., to spend a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Aronson.

If You Haven't Gotten That 1944 Automobile Stamp—You'd Better!

Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, warns all car owners to purchase their motor vehicle use stamps for the fiscal year 1944 immediately. There has been a lag in the sale of the stamps, he says, attributing it to a large extent to rumors that there would be a repeal of the tax law. He calls attention of those who have delayed to the provisions of the law which provides a $25 fine for failure to purchase or display the stamp after it has been purchased.

The law provides that these stamps must be purchased and displayed on the vehicle on or before July 1 of the fiscal year. He states that he will take no action until after July 31, however.

Immediately after the first of August he plans to assign deputy collectors to make an intensive drive against delinquent purchasers.

The stamps may be purchased at all post offices.

"Lake Villa Days" Celebration Set for August 6, 7, 8

An outside dance floor and free dancing will feature the tenth annual "Lake Villa Days" celebration to be sponsored by the Lake Villa fire department Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 6, 7, and 8.

Proceeds of these festivals are used by the fire department for municipal improvements.

These have included in the past, the contribution of funds toward the building of a $10,000 fire station and village hall.

In addition to the dancing, there will be carnival attractions and a number of special features.

Missing Beer is Found Here; FBI Is Investigating

Cargo Consigned to Chicago Was Purchased by the Brezina Co.

Federal authorities have taken over the investigation into circumstances surrounding the reported disappearance of Walter Bartowski, Milwaukee truck driver, after part of a load of beer which Bartowski was supposed to have delivered to a Chicago baseball park Saturday was discovered in the possession of an Antioch distributor.

The distributor, Erwin Brezina of Fox Lake, whose company is located here, told representatives of the Lake county sheriff's department, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Waukegan police force that he had purchased Bartowski's entire load of 485 cases for $500, about half its regular wholesale price. He stated that he had already disposed of about 185 cases to customers.

Brezina told the law enforcement officials that he had made previous arrangements with Bartowski to purchase "damaged cases" at cut rates, and that he found Bartowski and the truck waiting for him when he reached his warehouse in the rear of King's drug store at 7 a. m. Saturday.

Inquiries into the case started when the truck driven by Bartowski was found abandoned in the 200 block on Sheridan road, Waukegan, Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock. Complaints were made that the vehicle was leaking gas onto the pavement. The vehicle was taken to the Kutzler Motor company garage, and a call was put in to the Milwaukee Truck Service, Inc., headquarters.

Informing that the truck apparently had figured in a hijacking case, law enforcement officers began a search for the missing driver and cargo.

Since beer comes under U. S. Internal revenue provisions, the case was turned over to the FBI.

LEGION CARNIVAL IS "ALL SET" FOR OPENING FRIDAY

Three-day Festival Will Feature Dancing, Rides and Games

Everything is in readiness for Antioch's big annual American Legion carnival, to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, August 5, 6, and 7, on the grounds at the rear of the village park.

Arrangements are being made to provide for outdoor dancing, in addition to rides and other attractions.

Refreshment booths will be "manned" by members of the Legion auxiliary, and the women will also have charge of booths where games will be enjoyed, and will furnish cashiers for the rides and other attractions.

In addition to Legion and auxiliary members, other residents of the town are also volunteering their services to help make the affair a success.

Proceeds will be applied toward the Legion fund for bringing cheer to the boys in the service.

Skinner Brothers of Crystal Lake have contracted to furnish rides, and Mr. Ruggles, associated with the Skinners, will supply games and amusements.

"Hauling Out the Gold"

Among the numerous publications brought to the editorial desk daily through the workings of that mysterious thing known as "the exchange," whereby newspapers send copies of their publication to others in the trade, and through a kindred process that can be described only as "accumulation," whereby all sorts of gratuitous publications are wafted hitherward—among these publications there is a little number whose title has sometimes brought a slight smile to our face.

This is "The Fertilizer Review," published by the National Fertilizer association at Washington, D. C.

Curious to see what a fertilizer review might consist of, we removed the wrapper on one of these little magazines this morning, to see a cover design of a grain field.

Turning the pages, we learned that the association had just held its nineteenth annual convention, at which problems which war has brought to the fertilizer industry, and the part this industry is playing in the war food production program were discussed.

Browsing further through the article, we learned that the seemingly humble commodity fertilizer is in reality a weapon of warfare, an important factor in maintaining the health of the nation and conserving its "good earth" for future generations: that it has to do with the world of commerce, directly through transportation and as merchandise, and indirectly as a factor in the production of food; that it has to do with the field of chemistry (many fertilizer products such as nitrogen are produced synthetically), with the field of engineering (power dams and manufacturing plants necessary to the industry are examples) and the field of economics (there are shortages of certain commodities needed in the production of various types of fertilizers).

The humble fertilizer enters into the field of international relations, too. We read that the United States is committed to deliver a certain number of tons of concentrated fertilizer ingredients to the United Kingdom, and that this, "because of transportation and other difficulties, must come from eastern production."

Did you know that there are price ceiling regulations with regard to fertilizer, too?

—Well, we could go on, but this will give you just a little idea of how important a place a seemingly humble industry fills in the part of a nation.

So next time any of you folks should be a witness or a party to that little farm chore euphemistically known as "hauling out the gold" from the barn into the fields—don't look upon that humble task wholly with disdain. That little, humble, disdained task is playing a tiny part in building up the health of a nation and preserving its future.

Meanwhile, please don't disturb us for the next fifteen minutes—we're turning back to re-read a few of those articles in "The Fertilizer Review." They may well be worthy of some more thought.

Traffic Deaths Outweigh War Losses

Traffic deaths in the United States exceeded the war dead since Pearl Harbor by 61 per cent, according to an estimate reported by the Chicago Motor club, based on accident figures compiled by the National Safety Council. United States war dead since Pearl Harbor number 15,132, while traffic deaths in the same period reached 40,000. Of the traffic dead 22,500 were workers, essential to the military or domestic economy of the country.

"Although traffic deaths are 15 per cent below the 1942 toll, and 40 per cent less than 1941, the problem of traffic accidents is far from being solved by war time restrictions," says Charles M. Hayes, president of the club.

"An analysis of accident records reveals that pedestrians, through carelessness or negligence in obeying traffic laws, comprise the largest percentage of traffic fatalities. Studies show that in this pedestrian group there are four times as many persons killed above the age of 55 as there are in school age groups. This is partly due to physical disabilities, such as poor vision and slow co-ordination, but unquestionably pedestrians subject themselves to accidents by disobeying traffic signals, jay-walking, trying to 'beat the lights' and other dangerous habits.

"It is difficult to educate adult pedestrians, whereas children receive the benefits of school bus patrol activities and safety education in the schools. The increasing provision of playground facilities to keep children off the streets has also been a factor in the safety record of children under fifteen.

"Traffic accidents are one of the leading causes of absenteeism, and the appalling waste of manpower on the home front is a problem that can be solved only by the co-operation of pedestrians and motorists alike in exercising every precaution against traffic accidents."

Ignite Easily

A spark as tiny as that made by rubbing a cat's back is all that is needed to "set off" the vapor from gasoline used as a cleaner. Gasoline and similar cleaners evaporate readily and the fumes find their way to open flames or fires, explode and cause frequent deaths and serious injury.

HOW TO COMBAT SHIPPING FEVER

Staggering losses due to a condition called shipping fever occur during mass movements of animals from grazing regions to feeding centers. In some years as much as 50 per cent of all transit cattle develop this disease—a trouble that in many respects greatly resembles human influenza.

Most authorities believe that so-called shipping fever is caused by a filter-mal is lowered by the fatigue of shipping, inclement weather, change to new feed and water, etc., and that the disease is caused by a virus which may complicate the virus disease, with resultant lung fever, pleurisy, or generalized blood infection. If the shipped animals are carrying heavy loads of feed or other intestinal parasites, shipping fever may be especially severe. Veterinarians suggest that, whenever possible, animals intended for shipment should be freed from intestinal parasites and given a dose of preventive vaccine at least two weeks prior to the time when they are loaded for shipment. Ample feeding with a good grade of green hay several weeks before loading steps up the Vitamin A intake and helps to prevent trouble.

One should remember that shipping fever spreads quickly from newly-arrived animals to those on the home premises. For this reason it is especially important to segregate new arrivals for a period of three weeks, so the home herd will not be exposed.

Many other contagious diseases resemble shipping fever. For this reason it is generally wise to obtain expert veterinary advice to be certain of the exact trouble and take steps to prevent undue losses.

Note posture and depression common in shipping fever.

Dense Mixture

In making concrete it is desirable to get as dense a mixture as possible, for with a given amount of cement and water, the strongest concrete can be made from the densest mixture.

Enjoys Sunshine

New Mexico as a whole enjoys 74 per cent of possible sunshine the year around, although some portions of the state have as high as 84 per cent. The average number of clear days for the state is 181 a year.

Keep Cloth Near Basin

One way to assure a neat wash bowl in the bathroom is to hang a clean soft cloth near it. Instruct every member of the family to wipe the basin with this cloth every time the bowl is used. Face cloths that have worn thin, small napkins that are threadbare, and similar pieces of fabric make suitable wiping cloths. They can be laundered and reused in the bathroom many times.

Crops From Weed-Infested Land

Weed-infested land can produce important crops instead of lying fallow all summer. Plowing the land in late May or early June after weeds have made some growth is suggested. The next step is to cultivate the land every two weeks, until about July 1, then seed it to a smother crop such as sudan grass, millet, or sorghum. Chief value of this plan is that weed growth can be controlled without letting the land lie idle, experts say.

Moon's Surface Mountainous

The new discovery of the rough, mountainous nature of the Moon's surface did much to dispel faith in the authority of Aristotle that all heavenly bodies were perfect and spherical.

Sidney D. Hughes, Lake Villa, Takes Bride In Arkansas

Miss Mary Virginia Reid of Rison, Ark., daughter of Mrs. Lowery Reid and the late Mr. Reid of that city, became the bride of Sidney David Hughes, Tuesday, July 20, at 5 o'clock in the Rison Baptist church. The Rev. George F. Moody read the impressive double ring ceremony in the presence of relatives and intimate friends of the couple.

Pfc. Hughes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Hughes of Lake Villa, and is a graduate of Antioch Township High school and of the Illinois Wesleyan School of Music at Bloomington. He is at present stationed at the army base at Camp Fannin, Texas.

The altar was banked with magnolias, interspersed with floor baskets of gladioli, and lighted by seven-branched candelabra. James Lowery Reid, brother of the bride, lighted the candles. Schubert's "Serenade," Grieg's "I Love Thee," and Liszt's "Liebestraum" were played during the service.

The bride wore a navy blue ensemble with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. As "something old" in her costume, she wore a cameo necklace which had been worn by her mother at her wedding.

Mrs. Hughes is a graduate of Rison High school, of Magnolia A. & M. college, and of a Little Rock commercial school. She taught in the Rison public schools for three years. During the past year she has been in the employ of the Strawn furniture company in Little Rock.

The Observer

We just can't seem to keep track of all the lads who are home from the service on furlough—especially what with 'em looking so different 'n' all in their uniforms—so we'll welcome any news you can give us along these lines.

Seems if we made some little mention a while back about a boy who bought a jail out in Harvard, Neb., and then the burg wanted to buy it back from him, but he wouldn't sell. Now we see by the papers where he's going to auction it off for war bonds, and the proceeds will go to help toward construction of the cruiser Los Angeles.

Well, whoda think it? — from "bonds" in its hey-day to bonds in its "pay day."

"F. D. R." in his nation-wide address last night consumed valuable radio time to lash out at critics of the New Deal. He also informed his "subjects" that the ration ban on coffee has been lifted. (There will be more lifting of rationing programs as the 1944 election nears.) The President had no word of praise for the gallant McArthur, who is doing so much with so little in the South Pacific area. There is a move to draft McArthur for President. He is the only man, either Democrat or Republican, of whom the New Deal is afraid. No wonder the President consistently refuses to mention his name!

Well, we just can't help it, but the further we go the worse it gets. We mean those goony gleanings we get out'n the public prints.

Lamp this'n' from the Woodstock Daily Sentinel's Navy Scuttlebutt col., as logged by Skipper Luckenbill—

"A real experience was told me a short time ago of a mathematics professor in one of our leading universities. This man, though quite young, was outstanding in his profession. He entered officers' training, and in the math class, a Lieut. had an equation spread all over the blackboard and while making an explanation of it was interrupted by this young member of the class, saying, 'Sir, I would like to argue that question with you.' The instructor very pointedly informed him that it was not proper to argue with a superior officer. 'Well,' said the young man, 'I would like then to discuss it with you.' The instructor, endeavoring to put a stop to the interference, said, 'Who are you to question my ability?' whereupon the young man answered, 'I am the one who wrote that text book you are using.'"

Blackout here for 30 seconds.

And then we see where in the Chi. Sun, Matt Weinstock tells about a cartoon in the Camp Roberts (Calif.) Dispatch. It shows a Nazi soldier wading through the sand and encountering a billboard. In it a man is seen resting luxuriously under an awning, being served cool drinks by a gal in a bathing suit. The caption is: "You, too, can be a prisoner of war. Don't delay, surrender today: United Nations Chamber of Commerce."

Ya gotta admit, them Californians got salesmanship.

The ragweed's annual blitz of hay fever sufferers is just around the corner, and if you want to keep peace with neighbors who suffer from hay fever you had better cut any weeds on your property.

The ragweed pollen, source of trouble for more than 80 per cent of hay fever sufferers, can be expected to start filling the air in significant quantities between Aug. 10 and Aug. 15. From then until late September, when the ragweed season ends, the hay fever victims will be in misery.

Float from Other Areas
Cutting away weeds on your property will provide only partial relief for hay fever in your immediate locality. The general hazard won't be significantly reduced by chopping down local weeds, however, as the bulk of the ragweed pollen floats in from other areas.

All weeds should be cut by Aug. 1, and again in two or three weeks. Pulling the weeds completely ends the menace, but this is not a practical method because of the time required.

Maybe some day science will find a use for the ragweed, and it will then be harvested before it gets in its dirty work—but in the meantime—mow 'em down!

The new electric sign in front of Reeves Walgreen Agency drug store is doing its part to make a "great white way" of Antioch's Main street. The sign was "lit up" for the first time Monday night.

Particularly pertinent to the lakes region are the following
DO'S AND DON'TS FOR WATER SAFETY

More than 80 million people participated in water sports last summer and in the Chicago area alone 125 persons lost their lives because of carelessness. Most of the drownings occurred at non-supervised swimming places. The Red Cross Water Safety program, which has reduced the drowning rate from 10.2 per 100,000 population in 1914, to 5.1 per 100,000 population at the present time, lists the following simple precautions to avoid fatal accidents:

1. DON'T swim too soon after meals. (The usual result—stomach cramps and drowning).

2. DON'T wait at least two or three hours after meals before going swimming.

3. DON'T swim alone.

4. DON'T swim with a "Buddy."

5. DON'T plunge into water. (This causes shock).

6. DON'T wade into water waist deep and gradually cool the body to prevent shock.

7. DON'T take long swims alone. (Exhaustion and panic are fifth columnists in the water).

8. DON'T take long swims but be escorted by a good boatman and an expert swimmer to keep a watchful eye on you.

9. DON'T swim at unguarded beaches.

10. DON'T swim at safe and guarded beaches.

11. DON'T leave and upset canoes or boats.

DO stay with upset canoes or boats—they don't sink.

7. DON'T attempt to make a rescue alone.

8. DON'T use buoyant materials such as boats, boards, ring buoys, torpedo buoys, etc.

9. DON'T dive into strange waters.

DO examine bottoms before you dive and make sure the water is at least 10 feet deep if diving from a 3 meter board; and at least 15 feet deep if diving from a height greater than 3 meters.

10. DON'T sit in the sun exposed for long periods.

DO cover up and take the sun gradually. Turn over at 15 minute intervals to prevent serious burns.

11. DON'T leave pop bottles, glass and other sharp objects on the beaches.

DO leave your section of the beach free of these materials so that others have a clean beach to use.

We're at it again—we mean reading the papers—and came across this:

A train loaded with Italian soldiers captured in Sicily rolled slowly through the African tableland and a Yank riding along an adjacent highway in a jeep couldn't restrain himself.

"Hey, where you fellows been?" he called.

Back came the reply in perfect English:

"We've been packed and waiting three weeks ago. Where have you been?"

Mrs. Theresa Zellinger
Resided Here Many Years

A heart attack is believed to have caused the death of Mrs. Theresa Zellinger of Chicago on July 19 at her summer home, Apple Ridge, Cross lake, at the age of 82.

Mrs. Zellinger, for whom funeral services were held last Thursday in Chicago, had apparently been in good health and had come out to Cross lake at about noon to enjoy some fishing, when she was suddenly taken ill.

The Zellinger family resided in Antioch for some time. Of late years they had lived in Chicago, but continued to maintain a summer residence at Cross lake.

Mrs. Zellinger was preceded in death by her husband, who passed away in 1935, and by a son, Joseph. Surviving are her daughters, Emma and Elsie Zellinger; and Stella (Mrs. A. J.) Willmann, and a grandson, Daniel Zellinger, of Silver Lake, Wis.

Part-Time Employees
Must Be Registered

There is a possibility that some employers in this area are not informing their part-time employees that they must secure social security cards, according to Bernard Barnett, manager of the Waukegan field office of the social security board.

"Actually," Barnett said, "an employer having only one part-time employee must make deductions for social security from that part-time employee's wages and must, of course, make a matching contribution himself."

Some employers, he said, confuse social security deductions with the unemployment compensation contribution which begins only after a certain number of workers are on the pay roll. The two are separate and distinct and, so far as the social security card is concerned, it takes only one employee to create the need for a card.

"Looking upon this need in another way," Barnett said, "it is unfair to part-time help not to insist upon their securing a social security card. If they do not have such a card, no wage record can be maintained, and they can build up no benefits under Social Security."

Barnett and his staff will issue social security cards to all workers, full or part time, who make application at the field office located in Room 4, Post Office building, Waukegan.

U. S. Civilians Get Rationing Forecasts

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

FOOD:
Maintain Meat Ration

Maintenance of the present meat ration at "about the present level" was predicted by the War Food Administration following the allocation of estimated supplies among civilians, the services and other users for the next 12 months.

Total allocable meat supplies were put at 23 1/4 billion pounds. Civilians will receive 63 out of every 100 pounds produced; the services will get 17 pounds; the Allies will get 14 pounds; and allotments for reserves, the Red Cross and exports will amount to 6 pounds.

Of the total supply of beef expected, civilians will obtain 66 out of every 100 pounds, and the services 23 pounds. Other claimants will get 2 pounds. Of the pork production, the civilians' share will amount to 59 out of every 100 pounds, the services' portion will be 12 1/2 pounds, and lend-lease's allotment will approximate 23 pounds.

Total supplies of lamb and mutton are expected to drop sharply from the 939 million pounds of 1942 to 539 million. This compares with the 1935-39 average of 863 million pounds.

Cheese, Butter

Decrease of government purchases through August, September and October will make available 327 million pounds of butter and cheese for civilians, the WFA said. Of the total, approximately 400 million pounds will be of butter; 92 million pounds of cheddar cheese, and 35 million pounds of other cheese.

WFA also announced that plans were made for about 7 million additional cases of canned baby foods, condensed milk, other milk products and certain canned vegetables and fruits by an increase in canners' tin quotas. However, it was pointed out that shortage in fruit crops may offset the extra tin allotments.

Increased production will allow civilians 388 eggs apiece during the next 12 months, WFA said, 18 more than in 1942.

The Office of Price Administration also stepped into the feed picture and announced prices of cabbage and lettuce will be rolled back 25 to 50 per cent.

SICILY:

First Resistance

History will record that the first real Axis resistance in Sicily was put up at Catania. Here, in the midst of the broad rolling plains which are criss-crossed by several rivers, German armored forces met the full shock of Gen. Bernard Montgomery's British Eighth army, charging forward after easy capture of the ports of Syracuse and Augusta.

Adapt at tank warfare, the Germans took no chances on exposing their mechanized ranks to the big Montgomery on Sicilian front.

Berthas of British warships plying along the narrow eastern coast of the island, and to the Allies heavy artillery, which could be concentrated in the tight coastal corridor. Instead, they determined to take their chances in the sprawling Catania plains, where they could maneuver more comfortably.

History will show that as the Germans and British locked horns on these plains, with the enemy holding his flexible lines in the early days of the fighting, Gen. George S. Patton's American Seventh army rolled 30 miles inland to Enna, which is situated on high ground and commands important roads running east and west across the island.

SOUTH PACIFIC:

1. Planes blast Jap shipping trying to supply beleaguered garrison at Munda.

2. Navy sees six more years of war in Pacific.

Air Power Scores Again.

The devastating striking power of land-based aircraft against surface vessels was again amply demonstrated in the Solomons offensive when American Liberators, Mitchell and Avenger bombers attacked a strong Japanese concentration of 11 warships and transports in Vella Gulf, sinking a cruiser and two destroyers and scattering the others.

Sailing in the dead of night, the Japs were making another try at reinforcing their entrapped troops at Munda airfield, on New Georgia Island; where U. S. dive bombers also were in action supporting the ground units' creeping attack on the stronghold's jungle defenses.

The attack in Vella gulf followed others made upon Jap vessels in

Sgt. Thomas Gaietot kneels at grave of fallen buddy on Rendova island.

Kula gulf and brought to 24 the number of different enemy ships sent to the bottom since the Solomons offensive started.

Sees Long War.

Because the war in the Pacific must be fought over great distances and bases must be built from the ground up, Vice Admiral Frederick J. Horne, assistant chief of naval operations, declared the navy was figuring on at least six years of fighting.

Horne cautioned against optimism that the war would be over in a hurry, asserting that every slight success fills the people with unwarranted hope and invariably results in a drop of war production. To defeat Japan, he said, we will need a fleet and air force twice as big as the enemy's, and he claimed that the present building program will bring a seven-fold expansion in our navy by 1947.

Neither should we look for a collapse in Germany such as occurred during the last war, Horne said. Clever indoctrination of Nazi principles in the German people has given the nation a firm will to fight the war to the finish, he explained.

ROME:

Raid Momentous

One of the greatest stirs of the war was caused by the Allied bombing of Rome. Both here and abroad, no effort was made to minimize the import of the action.

The Allies maintain that Rome constitutes a legitimate military objective, as best illustrated by the railway yards through which all north and south bound traffic in Italy is routed. Demolition of these yards, the Allies say, would severely cripple Axis communication on the mainland.

Besides the important railway yards, Rome also harbors other industrial installations, it is pointed out. In the raid in which 500 American Flying Fortresses participated, the Allies said a steel plant and a large chemical works were damaged.

The Italian government's belief that Rome would not be bombed because of the cultural and religious landmarks which abound throughout the entire area, was indicated by the lack of strong preparation made against attack. Anti-aircraft fire was weak, few planes rose to intercept the Allied squadrons and 166 persons were killed and 1,659 injured.

Son Decorated

Whenever the Flying Forts roar over the channel for Europe, Mrs. Mary Smith of Detroit, Mich., sticks close to her radio to learn the results.

Her son, Maynard, a Fortress crew member, became the first living serviceman overseas to receive the congressional medal of honor for saving the lives of six mates on a recent flight over the continent.

LABOR:

Wants Cheaper Food

Declaring "profiteers and speculators are sapping the strength of the nation's army of workers," William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said that unless prices of food were brought down "to a reasonable level," organized labor would demand wage increases.

At present, wage increases have been restricted to 15 per cent over the January, 1941, scales. Leveling his attack on food, Green said that AFL surveys in principal cities had shown costs in labor's market basket had risen from 50 to 200 per cent since the war started.

Criticizing the Office of Price Administration and War Food administration for failing to halt the increase in food prices, Green demanded "intelligent and orderly action to assure workers and their families of a decent place to live in and enough nourishing food to eat within their incomes."

Green's statement followed one by CIO chieftain William Murray, who similarly threatened that organized labor would seek wage increases unless food prices were rolled back. The administration is committed to a roll-back program.

HOGS:

Ceiling $14.75

With a "floor" or minimum price of $13.75 per hundred pounds promised for hogs, the government established a "ceiling" or maximum price of $14.75. At the same time the "floor" was extended to all porkers between 200 and 270 pounds.

Despite the government's promise, however, hogs were selling for less than the "floor" in some big markets. In the Chicago yards, heavy runs recently drove the average price down to $13.35, with tops averaging $13.85 and others bringing $12.55.

Overhauling its present system of slaughter control to provide for record receipts, the government announced that packers will be licensed to operate if they pay no less than the "floor" nor more than the "ceiling" price for hogs, and if they make appropriate division of meat supplies among civilian, military and lend-lease groups.

It was also revealed that the government intended to extend federal inspection to plants now without the facilities. Under present regulations, the government cannot purchase meat from any packers with out such inspection. The new arrangement promises a more equitable distribution of meat in the country.

RUSSIA:

Front Aflame

On the offensive for the first summer in three years, the Red army hacked at German lines along much of the vast 1,200 mile front.

The main drive remained direct ed at the Nazi salient of Orel, with Russian forces bearing down upon that hub from north and south. A junction of the two spearheads behind Orel would send off thousands of German troops now fighting around the city and also sever the railroad from Bryansk carrying supplies to the embattled base.

MANPOWER:

Unfreeze Jobs

Workers frozen into their jobs in war or essential industries by an order of the War Manpower Commission April 17, now will be allowed to accept the same positions at higher pay in other plants.

Workers formerly could transfer to other jobs only if laid off for seven days or more, if discharged or if able to show that their skill would be employed to better advantage elsewhere.

Easily Ensilad

Crops easily ensilad are wheat, oats, barley, all from the bloom to the firing stage; rye in early bloom; timothy; orchard grass; and combinations of these along with weeds and other grass at about the early hay stage; also corn, sorghum, sudan grass, and millet before it is too badly fired.

Two wartime idea booklets for homemakers

In the interest of the national wartime nutrition and food conservation program, the Public Service Company offers you two valuable booklets, without cost.

Home Canning

The first of these is entitled "Canning... What You Should Know About It." Both beginners and veteran home canners will find this booklet has the answers! It tells when and how to "put up" fruits and vegetables. It explains the various ways to do your own canning.

Home Dehydrating

The vital wartime necessity for preserving surplus foods from Victory Gardens for winter meals prompted development work by the Home Economics Department of the Public Service Company, and this resulted in the preparation of a booklet on gas oven dehydration.

The 18-page booklet entitled "Home Dehydration with a Gas Oven" tells how to prepare foods for drying, shows a simple method of dehydrating fruits and vegetables, tells how to store dehydrated foods and how to prepare them for the table.

While dehydration is not offered as a substitute for canning, it does fill a need where canning equipment, especially the pressure canner recommended for processing non-acid vegetables, may not be available. To gas range users in urban areas, dehydration offers a means of preserving garden surpluses that might otherwise go to waste.

Get These Booklets Today

The booklets on canning and dehydration are yours for the asking. Come in and get your copy of each today so you'll be ready to help your country preserve its limited supply of food.

One of the greatest success stories of 1942

About a year ago, America was being asked to increase, substantially, its investment in War Bonds.

And no one knew, definitely, just what America's answer to that plea would be.

Today, America's answer is clear—written down in black and white for any one to read. And the reading makes as heart-warming and inspiring a story as anything that has come out of this war. Here are some highlights:::

In December, 1941, there were 3½ million Americans who owned War Bonds. Today, there are over 50 million. A year ago that figure would have seemed fantastic. There is nothing in all history to match that record. Never before have so many people owned such a tremendous stake in their nation and its government.

In December, 1941, some 700,000 people were investing about four and one-half percent of their earnings in War Bonds through the Pay-Roll Savings Plan. Today, the 700,000 has swelled to 26 million—the four and one-half percent to nine percent. The MONTHLY investment in War Bonds through the Pay-Roll Savings Plan has grown, in one year, from 8 to 400 million dollars.

Figures like that need little comment. They tell, better than any words, what happened when a free people decided among themselves to lend their government money. Money to help pay for fighting equipment—money to help keep prices down—money to insure peacetime goods and peacetime jobs and a generally decent world to which our fighting men can return.

Peacetime goods and jobs? A decent world? Think what 12 BILLION dollars' worth of War Bonds owned by Americans right now can mean in buying power to be released in the years after the war is won.

Buying power that can set factories full of men to making millions of cars and radios and washing machines. Buying power that can set multitudes of other men to building a million new homes for impatient owners. Buying power that can mean better, richer living for everyone of us.

And that 12 billion dollars is only a beginning:

For what we have done in '42 to win this war will not be enough to do in '43. Our whole war effort must be expanded. Not a one of us but knows that in the year ahead we must send more men—we must do more fighting—we must build more planes, more ships, more guns—more everything.

And to do this, we must buy more and more War Bonds:

Enough more so that when the record is in for 1943, America's War Bond buying will once again be one of the greatest success stories of the year.
